Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 12 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dull and cloudy day for most. Some eastern coasts brighter.

Today:
A rather dull start, with the odd spot of drizzle possible but dry for most. Cloud persisting for much of the day, with the best of any brighter spells across eastern coasts, and perhaps the odd western area later. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud will gradually break and clear southeastwards through the first half of the night. Clear spells then developing, becoming increasingly prolonged through the early hours of Friday. Staying dry. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Friday:
Dry start with sunny spells. Areas of thicker cloud then developing, spreading east late morning and afternoon, mainly across southern parts, with the odd spot of rain or drizzle possible. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Mostly fine Saturday. Turning unsettled with spells of rain or showers Sunday and Monday. These most likely and perhaps persistent across northern parts. Some warm sunshine also possible. Low confidence.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.